Seen & Heard Around Murray

Our self control is amazing us.

Just like the Rock of Gibraltar, or something on that order.

Throat got sore and it scared us, so we say to ourself, "better cut down on that smoking boy". So we do.

We enjoy a cigarette after breakfast, then another as we leave for our daily chores. At noon we repeat this process and at the evening meal, once again.

We just leave our cigarettes at home and quit carrying matches even.

There is just no telling what a fellow can do if he puts his mind to it.

Somebody says if you are going to all that trouble, why not quit completely.

Shucks, we say, why quit completely? Moderation is the theme. Most anything done in moderation is better than extremism, either way. Absolute teetotalism could possibly indicate a weakness that is best taken care of by not partaking whatsoever.

What we are saying, of course, is that it is difficult to be moderate in some things. A person either goes overboard or, in self defense, must leave it alone completely.

Generally this is our situation with smoking. We usually either puff up a storm or must leave it teetotally alone. Anyway we'll try this moderation kick for a while and see how it works out. If it does not, then, to hide our weakness in this area, we will stop completely.

We don't know whether this philosophy makes sense or not.

However a person must have a philosophy to live by, no matter how screwy it might be. As long as it works for him, that's all that matters.

Seven Men Enter U. S. Army In May Draft Call

Seven young men from Calloway County have been inducted into the United States Army in the May draft call from the county, according to Mrs. Gusie Adams, executive secretary of Local Board No. 10 of the Selective Service.

They are Steve White, son of Clifford White of Hazel Route Two; William Ray Futrell, son of Mrs. Dorothy Orton of Murray; Robert Elkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Elkins of Murray Route Six; Stephen Tharp, son of Willie Tharp of Murray; David Hal Bracy, son of Mrs. Lilian Bracy of Murray; Thomas Schroeder and Richard Schroeder, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schroeder of Almo Route One.

The seven men were sworn into the Army at Nashville, Tenn., and have been sent to Fort Campbell for their basic training.

Sisterhood Members At Convention, Lexington

Chapter M, the local chapter of the P.E.O. Sisterhood, was represented at the annual convention of Kentucky State Chapter held at the Imperial House, Lexington, on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Alfred Lindsey, retiring state treasurer, was accompanied by Mrs. Hugh Oakley and Mrs. Henry McKenzie. Mrs. McKenzie was named as recording secretary on the State Executive Board. She formerly served four years in offices of the Executive Board of Michigan State Chapter.

Mrs. Opal Roberts Installed As President Of Murray B&PW Club

Mrs. Opal Roberts was installed as president of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the breakfast meeting held Thursday morning at the Murray Woman's Club House.

The new president is now married to Hoyt Roberts who is in the real estate business. She now works in her husband's office as the need arises.

Mrs. Roberts was born and reared in Texas. She has attended several schools and upon coming to Murray she accepted a job with Murray State University as personnel advisor on the Work-Study program in the financial aid office.

She was married to the late Olan Hicks in 1936 and they had two sons, two daughters, and two foster daughters. Her husband was a minister. Mrs. Roberts has taught Sunday School classes all through the years, taught in Bible School, and is presently teaching a Sunday School Class in the primary department of the University Church of Christ.

She worked with her late husband, Olan Hicks, for eleven years in their own printing and publishing company which did church related work. She and her husband helped establish a new congregation in San Antonio, Texas, near a military base.

Mrs. Roberts became operator and manager of the College Bookstore for six years when her late husband accepted a teaching position with Freed-Hardeman College. At the death of her first husband she took a secretarial position at the Jackson General Hospital, Jackson, Tenn., before coming to Murray.

The new club president has been active in church and civic events. She became a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Tennessee and this past year served as reporter for the Murray Club.

Other new officers installed by Mrs. Marjorie Hule were Mrs. Edna Milliken, vice-president; Mrs. Alberta Korb, recording secretary; Mrs. Lavene Turner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Reva Shelton, treasurer.

Mrs. Roberts expressed special appreciation and thanks to Mrs. Odelle Vance who has served as president for the past two years and presented her with a past president's pin. Mrs. Vance then presented Mrs. Roberts with the president's pin.

Mrs. Vance presented to the club a book of the history of the B&PW Club from its beginning in 1914 to 1941.

Mrs. Laurine Doran was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the breakfast.

Corps Seeks Bids For Work On Barkley

Bids are invited by the Nashville District, Corps of Engineers, for construction of facilities at two public use sites on Lake Barkley.

Col. John C. Bell, district engineer, said the work is in the $100,000 to $500,000 range and is a small business set-aside. Bids will be opened June 27.

Work proposed in the contract is at the Grand Rivers site and the Barkley Canal recreation site.

Included in the specifications are 20 items. Among these are construction of three comfort stations, three septic tanks, two washhouses and sanitary treatment facilities.

Other work items include installation of 5,500 feet of eight-inch sewer pipe, 27 reinforced concrete pipe manholes, 130 feet of four-inch sewer pipe, 1,000 feet of one-inch plastic line and 6,300 feet of three-inch water line.

Concrete work covered in the specifications consists of 650 square yards of sidewalk, 780 feet of curbing, 950 feet of combination curb and gutter and 150 feet of concrete pipe. Additional materials called for are 1,600 tons of dense graded aggregate, 1,250 gallons of bituminous material and 510 tons of bituminous concrete.

There are 33 public use areas around the 118-mile reach of Barkley reservoir. The proposed contract is part of the continuing program to provide facilities for the public using the multiple purpose project for recreational activities.

Barkley Project is one of seven projects constructed and operated by the Corps of Engineers in the Cumberland River Basin.

Plans for the trip will be discussed. This is a special meeting and girls are urged to be present, a spokesman said.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I noticed in the paper where the school board and the fiscal court are coming back again with the school tax which will be 13c on each $100.00 of property. It was on the ballot last year and it didn't pass.

For the bill was 1.059. Against the bill was 22.19. It didn't pass and they came back and put a school tax on; telephone bills, light bills, West Ky. gas bills.

And the county taxes have been raised and if this bill passes, where will our county people be. With our hand to the grinding rock for twenty years. Just stop and think of the old people who have just a little farm and trying to live on their social security checks and are not able to work and what a hardship this will be to them. I can sit here and count ten widow women that are living on social security checks.

I think that if we county people don't stand up for our rights the communists will take over. The fiscal court won't help us county people, so we can have a fire truck. One of them said "there wasn't enough county people and help with the fire truck."

County people don't forget this in 1973 when the county election comes up again. So please, county people go to the polls May 26 and vote against the school tax.

Three Injured In Traffic Accident

Three persons were reported injured in a two car accident yesterday at 5:25 p.m. at the intersection of North 12th and Olive Streets, according to the report filed by the investigating officers of the Murray Police Department.

Reported injured were Larry Sidney Hooper of Hale's Trailer Court, Murray, who had a contusion to right knee and a contusion to the chest, and Vickie Eckert of Hart Hall Dormitory, Murray State University, who had abrasions to both knees and forearms and a bruise of the thigh. They were both treated at the emergency room of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

Also reported injured on the accident report by the police was a passenger in one of the cars, Joyce Densch of Hart Hall Dormitory, Murray State University, who had a laceration of the shoulder.

Cars involved in the collision were a 1962 Chevrolet two door hardtop driven by Hooper and a 1965 Volkswagen two door driven by Miss Eckert.

Police said Miss Eckert was going west on Olive Street and Hooper was going south on 12th Street when the cars collided. Hooper told police that the Eckert car failed to stop for the stop sign at 12th and Olive Streets and pulled out in front of him, according to the police report.

Damage to the Hooper car was on the left and right sides and to the Eckert car on the front and rear.

A basket dinner will be served. The church extends an invitation to all persons to attend.

OSU President Vows To Keep School Open

By CARL MILLER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — National Guardsmen with loaded weapons patrolled the Ohio State University campus today to maintain order and keep away "outside agitators" blamed for instigating violent disorders in support of a student strike.

University President Novice Fawcett vowed to keep the school open.

Between 300 and 400 guardsmen patrolled the campus and about 4,000 more were encamped at the state fairgrounds five miles from the university.

Gov. James A. Rhodes ordered the troops to the campus area Thursday after several hundred students smashed windows and looted downtown stores. The demonstrators were encouraging a student strike.

At least 10 persons were injured, none seriously, in fighting among students. A non-student, Alexander Dunson, 31, Columbus, was burned when, police said, a firebomb he was making exploded in his automobile. He was treated at a hospital and then arrested.

Police said at least 50 persons were arrested between 3 p.m. EDT, Thursday and 6 a.m. today.

Those arrested were held on charges ranging from curfew violations to carrying concealed weapons. Sidney and Arthur Ragland, both of Columbus, were arrested when police allegedly found a .22 caliber rifle, marijuana, brass knuckles and clubs in their car near the university.

Curfew Ends
A curfew clamped on the area at 10 p.m. Thursday ended at 6:30 a.m. today. Liquor permits in the three-mile square university area were ordered suspended for 72 hours by state officials.

The violence began Thursday shortly after a rally on the OSU campus oval, attended by about 6,000 persons.

The rally was peaceful, but a short time later a group of students used wooden barricades to halt traffic on Neil Avenue on the south side of campus.

When the police failed to respond, the group, gaining supporters along the way, marched a half-mile to busy North High Street, where they halted rush-hour traffic.

Form Wedge and March
About 100 police officers then formed a wedge and marched down the middle of the street, forcing the students to retreat in front of them. Dozens of store windows in a six-block area were broken by the retreating students. Police used a small amount of tear gas.

Rhodes ordered the guards-

"Butch Cassidy" Brings New Life To Producer, P. Monash

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Butch Cassidy and The Sundance Kid" lost the Academy Award, but it brought new life to producer Paul Monash who never expected the Western comedy to become one of the top 20 boxoffice films of all time.

Monash is the same man who produced television's, suddest soap opera, "Peyton Place," and "Judd for the Defense."

The television series and "Butch Cassidy" were all in production simultaneously. They were completed or canceled in the same month, January, 1969.

"It all came to a shattering end at one time," Monash recounted at Universal Studios. "I was out of production and times were hard in the industry. They still are. Then we began to get an idea of the kind of picture we had in Butch Cassidy."

Did Not Sell Interest
"After a sneak preview I was offered a quarter million dollars for my interest in the picture. Thank God I didn't sell."

So for the film, starring

Paul Newman and Robert Redford, has earned its makers—including 20th Century-Fox—$35 million and it's just getting started.

"I was encouraged enough to acquire three motion picture properties," Monash continued. "One is the best-selling novel, 'Slaughterhouse Five.'"

"When I read it last year I trembled with anticipation, so I bought the book for a considerable amount of money, ($185,000). Later everyone I talked to said it was a great book but couldn't be made into a film."

Getting Script Ready
"Universal saw things differently and now we're putting the script in order and getting pre-production work done."

Monash is a compact man with graying hair, a prizefighter's nose, a copper tan and dapper wardrobe. He is one of the new video producers to move up to the movie screen with a major hit.

Now he is in the uncomfortable position of attempting to top himself with another movie success.

"I don't want to sound immodest," he said, "but I think 'Slaughterhouse Five' will win the Oscar for best picture two years from now."

Dogs And Graves Don't Mix

Dad is just sitting there, moving the toe of his plow shoe in the dust. Its too hot and dry for just about anything. Its so dry that the dog went out and found pups. Leastwise, dad said she found them. I didn't even know she was looking. I'm glad she found them, because I like pups, and scratching bellies, and pulling ears, and puppy teeth bites. Dad and I don't share the same point of view. I'm glad she found five, and wish she had found ten. Dad said he's sorry she found five and wished she'd found none. He said that we'd have a hard time getting rid of them, because they were just like their mama, and their mama wasn't much, so, he's worried about getting rid of them.

Just about now, the electric light people came by and dug a hole. I looked in it, and thought it was twenty feet deep. Dark as a grave and damp, it was. Dad said it was only about eight feet deep instead of twenty. Why the light people dug that hole near our house, I don't know. They never did put anything in it. Well, to make a long story short, as they say, those dumb pups found that hole and jumped in. We heard them barking and howling like they were in a grave somewhere. I finally found them and called dad. Dad smiled for the first time in six weeks. He came with his shovel, and said, "there is only one thing left to do to a grave when its dug and the bodies are in it. I just couldn't believe what I was thinking."

To make a short story shorter, dad had a long rope with him. He made a loop and tied one end to the shovel handle. He worked for an hour, and he finally managed to put the noose around each one and haul them out.

After this whole procedure happened the second time, dad said, that even though I was little, I had better cover up that hole.

A Spring Storm

The sky is tranquil,
And so beautiful.
The radiant blue sky transcends a peace within my soul.
I feel as if I could lie on the ground forever, and be nourished from the sky's beauty and tranquility.

Suddenly!

The tranquility is breached by a streak of lightning.
The clouds begin to darken and roar with an emperor's thunder!

The storm brakes.

Rain falls from the sky, as if thousands of farmers were standing on cotton soft clouds.
And sprinkling their gardens.

The storm has not disturbed the beauty,
It remains with an intimate touch of tranquility.

Three Views Of Life

I discussed life with a teacher, we turned pages alike in rows, became pale from beams of hidden sun,
were stimulated by opaque gray matter.

I discussed life with a poet,
we stepped on gingerly laid pebbles,
with scythes on shoulders, ballooned flowers with sweetened breath.

I discussed life with a child,
child said,
life's good,

cause,
a non existing image
never seeps from the brain,
to be given glory,
by stiff and purple lips.

being translated means,
if you didn't have it,
you couldn't discuss it.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Heart Attack At The Wheel

Triple trouble may befall the person who suffers a heart attack while driving his car. His woes may include not only the heart attack itself, but even legal liability for any injuries he happens to inflict upon somebody else.

When will the law impose liability on such a person? Generally speaking, when he had reason to foresee the likelihood of a heart attack (or some other sudden disability). Anyone who takes the wheel under these circumstances is committing an affirmative act of negligence.

For example:
A man went for a drive, even though he had a severe, chronic cardiac condition. He did suffer a heart attack, did collide with another car, and did cause injury to the other driver. And, in due course, a court held him responsible for the injury. Reason: he should have avoided the accident by not driving in the first place.

On the other hand, courts usually say that a first-time disability, coming "out of the blue," is not grounds for liability.

Thus, in another case, a court refused to impose liability for an accident on a driver who had blacked out for the first time in his life. One court even classified as unavoidable an accident caused by a sneeze, when the man didn't have the slightest warning that the sneeze was coming.

In one unusual case, a man headed down a steep hill in spite of the fact that he knew his brakes were in bad condition. When the car began to roll out of control, he became so frightened that he fainted.

Did his sudden fainting excuse him from responsibility for the collision that took place at the bottom of the hill?

No, ruled a court, holding him liable. The court pointed out that while the man could not be blamed for fainting, he could indeed be blamed for starting downhill with bad brakes. It was that original act of negligence, said the judge, that set the stage for disaster.

Twenty-Nine Are Certified In Red Cross Life Saving

Twenty-nine students were certified in Junior and Senior Lifesaving in a class ending May 15 at the university pool, according to Mrs. Gaylord Forrest, Red Cross Water Safety Chairman. Instructors who taught the course included Donald Burchfield, Terry Gold, Edward Dibble, Chris Comer, Charlie Clark, Skip Lockett, David Moses, and John Davis.

Water Safety Aides were Lawrence Anderson, Donna Honchul, Kenneth Mosher, Jim Hart, David Travis, Dorothy Swann, Max Weaver, Jim Brantley, and Chris Cochran.

Those certified in Senior Lifesaving were Bob Forrest, Danny Carroll, Paul Thurman, Rodney Lowe, Jill Persall, Nancy Taylor, Debbie Cathey, Mary Ann Taylor, Emily Belote, Nancy Dinguid, Wade Flood, David Davis, Ann Battle, Ken Gordon, Ken Battle, Charles Brien, Marsha Stedd, Gil Hopson, and Tass Hopson.

Junior Lifesaving certificates were presented to Rawley Fair, Ted Forrest, Chris Miller, Ken Harrell, Jay Pittman, Janet Newberry, Bill Wade Roberts, Don Jones, Barbara Howard, and Bill Farris.

"Some enrolled in the class were not certified due to a lack of strength in swimming or failed the written examination," Mrs. Forrest said. "This is a strenuous course of necessity," she continued, "due to the fact that almost all clubs, schools, and organizations require Red Cross certification of their life guards."

VOTES BILL DOWN

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—The Louisiana Senate voted against a bill Wednesday that would have prohibited a meeting of more than 10,000 persons without a police permit. The bill was aimed specifically at a rock music festival scheduled for the Memorial Day weekend.

The senators who voted against the bill thought it was unconstitutional because it discriminated against the festival.

McGlothlin Pitches Reds To 3-0 Victory Over Houston

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Jim McGlothlin doesn't have the strikeout stuff of Steve Carlton, but when it comes to a winning frame of mind, the Cincinnati Reds' hurler appears to be way ahead.

McGlothlin, acquired by Cincinnati from the California Angels during the winter, did not strike out a batter Thursday night but allowed only two singles in pitching the Reds to a 3-0 victory over the Houston Astros.

Carlton, meanwhile, turned in another of his sparkling strikeout performances for the St. Louis Cardinals by fanning 16 in eight innings only to see it go for nought as the Philadelphia Phillies scored a run in the ninth off reliever Frank Linzy to win, 4-3.

"This year I feel better mentally," said McGlothlin, who has not been scored on in his last 20 innings. "I feel I can go out there and win."

gias Opposite Reaction

Carlton had an almost opposite reaction to his plight. It marked the third time in his brief major league career that he has fanned 16 or more in a game and has not won.

"It's getting to be a phobia," said the disappointed Carlton. "I get all these strikeouts but started thinking that one mistake can kill you."

The Cardinals rallied for three runs in the ninth—two coming on Richie Allen's 14th homer of the season—to tie the score, but Tony Taylor's two-out single in the ninth chased home Johnny Briggs with the winning run.

McGlothlin's batterymate, Johnny Bench, provided the offensive punch to the Reds' victory. Bench slammed his 13th homer of the season in the fourth and helped build the Reds' third run in the seventh with a single.

Only Two Other Games
In the only other National League action, Los Angeles beat Atlanta, 6-3, and Montreal edged Pittsburgh, 7-6.

Willie Crawford's two-run triple highlighted a six-run eighth inning which enabled the Dodgers to defeat Atlanta. The rally helped Claude Osteen notch his fifth victory in nine decisions and tagged Phil Niekro with his sixth loss.

Coco Laboy singled home the winning run with one out in the ninth to highlight the Expos' victory. Laboy also doubled and scored the tying run in the eighth on a pinch-hit single by Ron Brand. Bill Mazeroski knocked in three runs for the Pirates with a homer and a two-run double.

Lakers Get Goodrich In Trade Thurs.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—The Los Angeles Lakers, who lost starting guard Dick Garrett to Buffalo in the expansion draft, have reacquired Gail Goodrich, their No. 1 draft choice in 1965.

Goodrich, a guard and a former UCLA All-America, was obtained in a trade from the Phoenix Suns Thursday. The Lakers gave up forward-center Mel Counts to get back the man they lost to Phoenix in the expansion draft in 1969.

"We certainly hate to lose a player like Counts," Coach Joe Mullaney said. "But in Goodrich I feel that we are getting the type of player which we probably lacked most of the past season."

The addition of the 6-foot-1 Goodrich leaves the Lakers with three guards—Jerry West and Willie McCarter—along with a swingman—Keith Erickson.

Los Angeles lost a second guard, veteran Johnny Egan, in this year's expansion draft.

"The Lakers have lost more key players in the four NBA expansion drafts than any other team in the league," Los Angeles General Manager Fred Schaus said.

"I felt the loss of Goodrich was the most serious incurred by our ball club. Needless to say, we are delighted to have him back."

Weiskopf And Blancas Shoot 65's To Take Lead In Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—Tall, blond Tom Weiskopf, the All-American boy, and short, swarthy Homero Blancas, of Mexican ancestry, are as different physically as day and night.

They even play a different type of golf—but you'd never know it by their latest scores.

Weiskopf and Blancas both turned in sizzling 7-under-par 65s Thursday to share the opening-round lead of the $125,000 Atlanta Golf Classic and went into today's second round with a one-stroke lead over Gibby Gilbert and two-over defending champion Bert Yancey and Chuck Courtney.

South African Gary Player, the pre-tournament favorite because of his consistent success since returning to the states a little more than two months ago, headed a group at 68 that included Tommy Aaron, Frank Beard, John Miller, Ken Nagle, Bob Rosburg and Bob Stanton.

The other two members of the so-called "big three," Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus were among 11 golfers who shot 69.

Weiskopf, who is consistently longer than 300 yards off the tee, said the scarcity of grass on the baked fairways "added up to 100 yards to the roll on drives."

"The way this course is playing," added Blancas, "when you drive well you have a chance for birdies on almost every hole."

The field will be trimmed to the low 70 scorers and ties at the end of today's second round and if the scores are similar to Thursday, it will take par golf for the 36 holes to stick around for the final two rounds. A total of 76 of the 14 starters were better Thursday.

Sharman Says Stars Down But Not Out

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)

Coach Bill Sharman of the Los Angeles Stars, who battle the Indiana Pacers Saturday in the fifth game of a best-of-seven playoff series for the American Basketball Association title, says his team is down but not out.

"Sure, we're down 3-1," Sharman, the former player on five National Basketball Association champions as a Boston Celtic, said. "But we beat Dallas two straight to win and Denver three straight to win. Boston once won three straight to win after being down 3-1, and the Lakers did it this year against Phoenix."

However, Sharman believes the Stars can reverse the present 3-1 series disadvantage for a title. "It will be tough," he said. "Indiana is so well balanced we have to play an almost perfect game to win."

Sharman doesn't take anything away from his team or the Pacers for the 142-120 beating the Stars took before an Anaheim crowd Tuesday night to boost Indiana's lead to within one win of capturing the ABA crown.

Meanwhile, Indiana Coach Bob Leonard was not sitting back to savor the laurels of the Tuesday night victory or two earlier. Although he did admit that somewhere around the state Fairgrounds Coliseum some champagne was being cooled in preparation for Saturday afternoon's nationally televised battle (CBS).

"Los Angeles is not coming here just to see the playoffs come to an end," Leonard said. "After four games, I can see how they beat Dallas and Denver to get this far. Coach Sharman has done great with that ball team."

If the Stars win Saturday, a sixth game would be played Monday in Los Angeles. Should the series go seven games, it would be played here Tuesday.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The annual Indianapolis 500 guessing game already has started and it's really a laugh.

The game is so simple anyone can play. All you have to do is guess the name of the man who'll wind up in victory lane at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway after the 500-mile race on Memorial Day.

Anyone could win, but I know I'm right when I tell you the name of my man. He's Jack Mackenzie, small "k" but big guy, and you can bet he'll be the one getting his picture taken in victory lane when it's all over Memorial Day because he hasn't missed in the past 17 years.

Always next to Winner
Jack Mackenzie is the guy you always see standing next to the winning driver. He's the one who presents the official Borg-Warner trophy to the winner. The silver trophy isn't that easy to handle either. It weighs 80 pounds and Mackenzie's job is to carry it a quarter mile from the starting line to victory lane.

"When the temperature is 95 degrees and the trophy has been soaking up the sun all afternoon that can be the longest walk in the world," he said.

Mackenzie is a science teacher at Lawrence Central High School in Indianapolis who has made something of a career out of lugging the famous trophy around. He first got the job back in 1953 and because the piece of silverware is so heavy, his size 6-5 and 210 pounds—didn't hurt his chances.

Memorial Day isn't the only day Mackenzie schleps the trophy around. During the month of May alone it is shown at more than 20 functions and Mackenzie is the custodian who has to carry it from the Speedway Museum and back again.

Bombarded with Questions

Ruby Hopes To Have Cars Ready

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)

Lloyd Ruby, who has driven the fastest lap ever in the Indianapolis 500-mile race, hoped to have his two troubled cars ready for last-minute practice runs today in an effort to gain a starting berth in this year's Memorial Day classic.

Ruby hasn't been on the track since the mechanical woes befell him and his crew last weekend. Ruby in 1968 set a one-lap race record of 168.666 miles an hour.

Today was the final full day of practice before the last round of time trials Saturday and Sunday. Twenty-seven racers were qualified last weekend, leaving six spots to be filled before the traditional "bumping" process begins with faster cars replacing slower ones in the race-day lineup.

Despite a hot track Thursday, Jack Brabham and five other drivers in non-qualified cars hit speeds in excess of 163 miles-per-hour during practice runs.

Driving on a track which got as hot as 143 degrees Brabham turned the day's fastest lap at 166.174 m.p.h. in his turbo-powered machine. Brabham's car was late in arriving here because of a trucking strike and he made his debut Wednesday.

Another quick time in a non-qualified car was the 165.748 m.p.h. lap recorded by rookie Kevin Bartlett of Australia in a machine originally assigned to Peter Revson of New York City. Revson later joined the Bruce McLaren team and qualified a car last weekend.

Other 163-plus laps Thursday were turned by rookie Greg Weld, Kansas City, Mo., Ronnie Bucknum, Capistrano Beach, Calif., Sam Sessions, Nashville, Mich., and rookie John Cannon of Canada.

Defending champion Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., had a top lap of 165.899 m.p.h. and three-time race winner A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., recorded one lap at 165.654 m.p.h.

Jigger Sirois, Hammone, Ind., finally got the field's only turbine-powered car over 160 m.p.h. with a top lap of 160.427.

There were no accidents Thursday and the yellow caution light was not used once.

Detroit Beats Baltimore; New York Stops Washington

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

It didn't take Merv Rettenmund long to catch up with John Hiller Thursday night. Only about two and a half hours, give or take a few minutes.

Rettenmund, one of the many talented Baltimore Orioles outfielders, faced Hiller, the lefty relief ace of the Detroit Tigers, with the bases loaded and nobody out in the ninth inning of the first game of a two-night doubleheader. The Orioles were trailing 6-3 at the time but the best Rettenmund could deliver was a forceout which cut Baltimore's deficit to two runs.

Hiller, however, then struck out Chico Salmon and retired Frank Robinson on a groundout to preserve Detroit's 6-4 victory.

Rettenmund didn't start the nightcap but entered the game in the eighth inning when he hit a pinch single and came around to tie the score 1-1 on Boog Powell's sacrifice fly. But, this only served as the prelude to the dramatic ninth inning when Rettenmund against faced Hiller, and this time, slammed a two-run homer which gave the Orioles a 3-1 victory and a split of the twinnings.

In the only other American League action, New York shut out Washington, 2-0, and Cleveland outlasted Boston, 10-7.

In the National League, Los Angeles top Atlanta, 6-3, Cincinnati blanked Houston, 3-0, Philadelphia nipped St. Louis, 4-3, and Montreal shaded Pittsburgh, 7-6. All other clubs were idle.

Danny Cater's two-run homer in the fifth inning powered the Yankees to their win over Washington and helped New York move within five and a half games of pace-setting Baltimore in the East Division.
Mel Stottlemyre was sailing along on a five-hit shutout in the ninth inning when he allowed a single to Ed Stroud and walked Jim French and Frank Howard with one out to load the bases. Lanky Steve Hamilton came on in relief at that point and struck out Mike Epstein and Bernie Allen to end the game and preserve Stottlemyre's fourth win against three losses.

Ray Fosse's first major league grand slam homer highlighted an eight-run fifth inning for Cleveland in the Indians' victory over Boston. The outburst, off reliever Vicente Romo and Ray Jarvis, was the Indians' biggest of the season and helped saddle starter Bill Lee with the loss. Bob Miller, making his first start of the season gained credit for his first victory.

Rookie Poses Threat To M. Wright

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—

Rookie pro Jo Ann Gunderson Carner, one of the longest hitters on the women's golf tour, poses a threat to Mickey Wright's monopoly of the $20,000 Bluegrass Invitational tournament opening today.

"She's (Mrs. Carner) just about due," Ed Griffiths, LPGA tourney director said. "It has taken her a little time to get acclimated to the tour, but once she gets her game she's going to be real tough—and the other girls know it."

Miss Wright was favored to win the Bluegrass for the fourth time in the past five years. The 54-hole tourney is staged at the Hunting Creek Country Club in suburban Prospect, Ky. She didn't compete in the Bluegrass in 1968.

Miss Wright's other main challengers, for the $3,000 first prize appeared to be Carol Mann, Sandra Haynie, Marilyn Smith, Kathy Whitworth and Betsy Rawls. They are the top five money-winners on the current LPGA circuit.

Missing from the field of 58 pros and five amateurs in the tourney was Shirley Engelhorn. She canceled plans to play because of the illness of her father.

—SURGERY SUCCESSFUL
CHICAGO (UPI)—Randy Hundley, Chicago Cub catcher, underwent successful knee surgery on Thursday. Doctors estimate he will be out of action for from six to eight weeks.

Dear Abby

Get rid of hopeless love

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How do I get rid of a guy I love very much but can't marry?

I am 25, single, and a Roman Catholic. The man I love is 34, Lutheran, divorced, and has two children. There is no way I can marry this man, but he won't leave me alone.

We have broken up at least a dozen times, but we always go back together again. The last time we broke up I told him to please leave me alone because I had to get him out of my system. Well, he moved into my apartment building, so now we see each other more than ever. I love him, but I won't give up my religion for him and I can't marry him. What should I do?

HELEN

DEAR HELEN: You KNOW what to do, what you need is the strength to DO it. A hopeless "love" should be treated as any other addiction. Quit "cold turkey." And talk turkey to that foxy Romeo who's not making it any easier for you.

DEAR ABBY: Three of us ride to work and back every day with a fellow worker I'll call "Muriel." Muriel is a widow and she proposed the arrangement to help pay for her car. It seemed a good deal for all of us, so we agreed. We pay her promptly every week. And very well!

Our problem is Muriel shops all the way home! At the end of the day we all want to get home to start supper, but she delays us daily from half an hour to an hour while she leisurely shops for this and that. If she would pick up an item or two once in a while, we wouldn't mind, but she takes her sweet time, pinching, poking, and studying each item while we sit outside in the car fuming.

We don't like to find other means of transportation, but if Muriel doesn't see this in your column and wise up—that's exactly what we intend to do. ULCERS IN MEMPHIS

DEAR ULCERS: Since the driver is well paid, you have a legitimate gripe, so quit fuming and tell Muriel what's eating you.

DEAR ABBY: My family rents an apartment in the same building where an unmarried girl resides. This girl has male callers at all hours of the night, every night. The resident manager says he cannot take any action unless he receives a letter stating the activities of this angelic young thing.

I am hesitant to write such a letter because it could be legally sticky. Why should our family have to move? Please guide me as to how this female can be evicted sans expense to us. INDY

DEAR INDY: In order to "evict" her, you will have to state your reasons (which, in this case, would be a reflection on her moral character). If she is a swinging amateur with lots of friends, she has as much right to live in that building as your family. And if she's a "professional" (as you suggest), you'd better be prepared to prove it, or you could have a lawsuit on YOUR hands.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "EATING MY HEART OUT" IN BIRMINGHAM: Don't worry. It won't last. Nothing does.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Michael E. Tabers Honored At Party On 7th Birthday

Michael Earl Tabers was honored with a party in celebration of his seventh birthday on Tuesday, May 19, at three-fifteen o'clock in the afternoon at his home at 810 Sunnylane Drive. His mother, Mrs. Earl Tabers, and sister, Miss Starlyn Tabers, were hostesses for the occasion. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Carl Usrey, grandmother of the honored person.

Games were played and refreshments of popples, cup cakes, and punch, were served. Guests were Stevie Byers, Tracy Byers, Todd Bradshaw, Howie Crittenden, Melinda Cunningham, Devry Rogers, Rusty Bogard, Barry Bogard, and Terry Carson. Greg McReynolds was unable to attend but sent a gift.

A towel rod or rack attached to the top of a ladder is convenient to keep washing and rinsing clothes within easy reach of the suds and rinse water when washing walls, woodwork and windows.

Forest fires annually destroy enough timber in the United States to build 25,000 homes.

Linen Shower Held At Cochran Home For Miss Brown

Miss Barbara Brown, bride-elect of Dennis Goodwin, was complimented with a linen shower held at the home of Mrs. Clifton Cochran, Farris Avenue, on Tuesday, May 19, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The charming hostesses for the prenuptial occasion were Miss Rita Hurd, Miss Melissa Trevathan, Mrs. Ronnie Hutson, and Mrs. Bobby Martin.

For the bridal event the honoree chose to wear from her trousseau a blue skirt and vest with a white long sleeve voile blouse. Her hostesses' gift corsage was of white daisies.

Mrs. James M. Brown, mother of the honoree, wore a green two piece knit suit, and Mrs. Gilbert Goodwin of Princeton, mother-in-law to be of the honoree, was attired in a pink and white jersey dress. Their hostesses' gift corsages were of white carnations.

The honoree opened her many lovely gifts which had been placed on a table centered with a bridal arrangement. The hostesses' gift to the honoree was an oyster white linen tablecloth and napkins.

The door prize was won by Miss Judy Hargis.

Refreshments were served from the beautifully appointed table overlaid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Clifton Cochran presided at the punch bowl and Miss Melissa Trevathan served the cakes decorated with pink roses. Mints and nuts were also served.

Twenty persons were present or sent gifts.

Christian Women's Fellowship Meets Tuesday Morning

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church held its regular meeting at the church on Tuesday, May 19, at ten o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Harlan Hodges presented the program which was a delightful review of the book, "The Taste of New Wine" by Keith Miller and published by the Word Press, Waco, Texas. The book, recommended by many denominations and persons including Dr. Billy Graham is "one man's search for evidence for the living presence of God in his day by day life," Mrs. Hodges said.

The worship from the book, "Listen To Love," was given by Mrs. William Porter. Her scriptures was from I Corinthians 2:10-11 and she closed with prayer.

New officers elected for the coming year are Mrs. William Egnor, chairman; Mrs. James Boone, first vice-chairman; Mrs. Ed Frank Kirk, second vice-chairman; Mrs. William Van Meter, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Littleton, treasurer; Mrs. Bailey Gore, service chairman; Mrs. Clegg Austin, co-service chairman; Mrs. Jean Bordeaux, librarian; Mrs. James Rudy Allbright, World Call.

The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Frank Roberts, and Mrs. William Porter.

Mrs. Wayne Sheeks, president, led the group in opening and closing CWF prayers.

Coat a long, narrow bottle brush with soap or detergent and use it to scrub the metal tracks of sliding shower or patio doors.

Wednesday, May 27

The Girls Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church will have its annual Coronation service at the church at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Jesse Roberts was hostess to the May meeting of the Arts and Crafts Club at her home on the Cadiz Road.

The coffee table was decorated with a lovely arrangement of beautiful roses, a gift to the hostess from a club member, Mrs. Regon McDaniel, from her flower garden.

The meeting was called to order by acting chairman, Mrs. C. B. Ford.

Mrs. Carl Harrison, secretary, treasurer called the roll and gave the financial report. Seventeen members were present.

A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Keys Futrell, Mrs. Meias Linn and Mrs. Pauline Speegle, was appointed to select a slate of officers for 1971 to be voted on at the June meeting.

A new member, Mrs. Carl Marshall, was introduced.

Several pieces of needle work were displayed. During the social hour the hostess served cake and coffee to the group.

Announcement was made that the June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edger Morris on the Lynn Grove Road.

Woman's World

Music Department Has Final Meeting Of The Club Year

Members of the Music Department of Murray Woman's Club at their final club meeting for the year, installed new officers, and heard reports summing up a most rewarding year's work from the retiring officers and committee chairmen.

Mrs. Vernon Shown, the retiring chairman, was given a silver tray as an expression of appreciation by the department. Officers serving with her have been Mrs. James Kline, vice chairman, Mrs. Sam Knight, secretary, and Mrs. Tommy D. Taylor, treasurer.

Those elected to serve for the coming year are: Mrs. Knight, chairman, Mrs. Charles Moffett, vice chairman, Mrs. J. D. Rayburn, secretary, and Mrs. William Ryan, treasurer.

Mrs. Moffett gave an appropriate devotional message, and the program was presented by the Music Department Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Josiah Darnall.

Featured were a trio sung by Mrs. Rob Ray, Mrs. Robert Baar, and Mrs. Donald Story, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Burchfield, and a solo part sung by Mrs. Noland Harvey.

To close the evening, as well as the year, Mrs. Darnall led the entire department in a most enjoyable song fest. Mrs. Richard Farrell was at the piano.

Members singing in the chorus were Mesdames Porter, Carpenter, Baar, Moffett, Shown, Simons, Harvey, Ray, Mary Taylor, Allbright, Sisk, Betty Thompson, Anna Faye Taylor, Story, Bazzell, Rayburn, Kline, and Thomason.

Serving as hostesses were Mesdames Rob Ray, Robert Carpenter, Eunie Garland, Paul Shahan, Donald Burchfield, and Bill Crouse.

When donating clothing for rummage sales, the resale value is enhanced if the garments are laundered and pressed—a small effort to make for worthy causes.

It is also helpful to the buyer to have the garment size and proper washing instructions noted on slips of paper pinned to the clothing.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Myers of Benton and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Tatum of Benton Route Four.

Great grandmothers are Mrs. Annie Edwards of Benton Route One, Mrs. Clarence Riley of Benton Route Three, and Mrs. Ocie York of Benton.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rudolph of Dexter Route One are the parents of a baby boy, Robert Tracy, weighing eight pounds six ounces, born on Tuesday, May 19, at 9:32 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

They have one daughter, Tammie Jo, age eight. The father is employed at the Murray Division of the Tappan Company.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thelmer Rudolph, Sycamore Street, Murray, and Mr. and Mrs. Silas Turner of Murray Route Three.

Mrs. Lundquist Is Leader Of Program

Circle I of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church met in the social hall of the church on Tuesday, May 19, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. E. A. Lundquist presented the program on the subject, "More Responsible Parenthood in Mexico." She closed her inspiring program with a prayer.

The circle chairman, Mrs. David Henry, opened the meeting by reading a poem entitled "In Silence." She conducted the business session.

A social hour was held with refreshments being served to the twenty members by the hostesses, Mrs. Keys Futrell and Mrs. O. B. Guerette.

Sandra Dockrey Is Honored At Party By Church Women

Miss Sandra Dockrey was the guest of honor Tuesday afternoon at a party given by women of the First Christian Church. The occasion was to express their love for her as she approaches the date of June 6 when she will become the bride of Charles Robertson, Jr. The ceremony will be in her home church in Elizabethton, Tenn.

Miss Dockrey is a member of the English faculty, Murray State University. She is taking leave for a year's study in the University of Kentucky. Mr. Robertson, the son of the late Charles Robertson and Mrs. Robertson, is a graduate student in the University of Kentucky and will be enrolled there next year.

Hostesses for the party were Mesdames Frank Roberts, Clyde Jones and Marvin Fulton with the Fulton home being the setting.

Informal entertainment and dainty refreshments were enjoyed. The tea table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a red rose and feathery white flowers from the garden of Mrs. Lesse Pickard.

Miss Dockrey, Mrs. Charles Robertson and daughter, Miss Mary Beth, wore guest corsages. The honoree was presented with pieces of her pottery selection, by the hostesses.

Approximately forty guests were present.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By United Press International

To remove lime deposits sometimes found in pitchers, soak tea leaves in vinegar and put them in the bottom of the pitcher. Add uncooked rice and shake vigorously until deposit disappears.

Should tumblers become stuck, don't pry them apart. Avoid breakage by putting cold water in the inner glass and holding the outer one in warm water.

Phebian Class Has Meeting At Home Of Mrs. Art Lee

The Phebian Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church held a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Art Lee on Monday, May 18, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening.

As the guests arrived, they were seated in the den to watch the telecast of the dedication of the First Baptist Church at Nashville, Tenn., with Dr. Billy Graham as the speaker.

Mrs. Ben Trevathan, president, presided at the business session. Special guest at the meeting was Mrs. Cocke of Wickliffe, mother of the class teacher, Mrs. Archie Simmons.

Group singing was held with Mrs. Vernon Shown as the leader. Mrs. Cocke played the piano.

An arrangement of red roses, gift of Mrs. James E. Hamilton, was used on the dining room table. Mrs. Howard Brandon gave Mrs. Lee a magnolia plant for the fireplace.

A dessert course was served by Group III, Mrs. Lloyd Jacks and Mrs. Art Lee, captains to the twenty-five persons present.

The people we lend money to tell us what to do.

We lend money to farmers and ranchers. Nobody else. And the people who borrow buy stock in PCA. That way, they tell us what to do. They decide who is really going to run our operation.

It's a great arrangement. We end up being owned and operated by the people who need — and use — our service. So we know all about their special money needs. Supplies, equipment, maintenance, extra help, medical bills, educational expenses. And we know how to tailor repayment programs to their production and income. Talk over your money needs — any season of the year — with a seasoned money pro: the man at PCA.

Love in sculpture splits town council

SLOUGH, England (UPI)—A larger-than-life sculpture of a couple making love is dividing Slough town council. One alderman wants the government to give the town a grant to buy the sculpture for a new town center. Another said it made him "feel like a peeping Tom."

Earth-shaking views

MANILA (UPI)—The Ibanags, a population group of the northern Philippines, believe mini-skirts and see-throughs are among the causes of recent earthquakes that hit parts of the country.

Other causes were given as "men's materialism, violence and tendencies to cheat fellow-men." One Ibanag elder also said the quakes were "signs of God's wrath over the present-day youth's discourtesy, vandalism and unsavory acts."

NEW GAS TAX—Budget Director Robert Mayo tells reporters in Washington that President Nixon proposes an "anti-pollution" tax on leaded gasoline to offset some of the budget deficit. Nixon says the budget cannot be balanced this fiscal year or the next. Lead in gasoline keeps engines from pinging.

Auto Race, Pro Football And Rocky Mountains Top TV Fare

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI)—A meager week on the television networks insofar as extras are concerned.

ABC has an auto race special Sunday. CBS on Sunday has the premiere of a weekly series about the National Football League and another young people's concert by the New York Philharmonic. NBC has a special about the Rocky Mountains on Wednesday.

Highlights:
SUNDAY
Foreign Minister Abba Eban is interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

CBS has the one-hour "AAU International Track and Field Champions," covering the California Relays.

ABC begins a 90-minute special with live coverage of the World "600" stock car race at Charlotte, N. C.

"NFL Action" bows on CBS as a weekly half-hour look at past events in the National Football League.

"New York Philharmonic Young People's Concert" on CBS has Leonard Bernstein discussing the "anatomy" of a symphony orchestra, using Respighi's symphonic poem, "The Pines of Rome."

Singers Sergio Franchi, Barbara McNair and Karen Wyman are on Ed Sullivan's CBS hour at 8.

The ABC movie screens 1962's "Hell Is For Heroes," starring Steve McQueen in a World War II drama about breaking through the Siegfried Line.

MONDAY
ABC's "It Takes A Thief" rerun is "Flowers from Alexander." Enemy agent is on Monday's trail.

The ABC movie rescreens 1965's "Pill Take Sweden" starring Bob Hope as a businessman trying to break up his daughter's romance.

The ABC news documentary, "Now," deals with the women's liberation movement.

TUESDAY
"The Mod Squad" on ABC reprises "Confrontation." A black student is murdered on a college campus.

ABC's movie repeats 1969's "The Pigeon," starring Sammy Davis Jr. and Pat Boone. Search for a diary with a deadly secret.

The CBS Red Skelton reprise has Janet Leigh and the Mills Brothers as guest stars. Clem Kadiddlehopper and George Appleby sketches.

WEDNESDAY
Waylon Jennings and Loretta Lynn are guests on a repeated "Hee Haw" for CBS.

Dyan Cannon, Gene Barry, Dusty Springfield and Terry Thomas are on the fresh "Kraft Music Hall" hour for NBC.

"Medical Center" on CBS repeats an episode in which a hospital patient is found to be on drugs.

NBC preempts "Then Came Bronson" for a one-hour special, "The Shining Mountains," dealing with the Rockies in fact and legend.

The Englebert Humperdinck show" on ABC at 10 features Shirley Bassey, Vince Edwards, Stiller and Meara and Kenny Bally and his jazzmen (rescheduled from May 6).

THURSDAY
The mammoth green sea turtle is investigated in "Animal World" on ABC.

NBC's "Ironside" is "A Bullet For Mark." A wounded detective and a narcotics case.

The CBS movie has 1961's "The Innocents," starring Deborah Kerr and Michael Redgrave in a drama about the dead possibly possessing the minds of the living.

"This Is Tom Jones" on ABC repeats a show featuring Dick Cavett, Mama Cass, Charles Aznavour and The Hollies.

Petula Clark, Peter Graves, Gale Gordon and Don Rice III are guests on Dean Martin's NBC repeat.

FRIDAY
NBC's "The Name Of The Game" rerun is "High Card." Publisher Glenn Howard (Gene Barry) is accused of tipping off the Cubans about the Bay of Pigs invasion.

The CBS movie screens 1964's "The Visit," starring Iger Bergman and Anthony Quinn in a tale of a rich woman who returns to her native village to settle an old score.

TV CAMEOS: Dick Cavett

Dick Settles in as a Late Night Host

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—The walls were bare except for nails and papered picture hooks. Floors were piled with cardboard cartons, and the slight young man who rose and stepped around the dark desk, apologizing for the decor, appeared to have been busy packing. Later that evening, Dick Cavett, 33-year-old star of the "Dick Cavett Show," would step before the ABC-TV cameras immaculately dressed and with sandy blond hair combed carefully across his wide forehead. Right now, the hair was ruffled, somewhat shaggy straw, the green sweater and blue jeans three giant steps beyond casual.

Explanation for the clutter and chaos was that Cavett's Daphne Productions—Daphne is the name of one of his dogs—was in process of being moved from Broadway and 51st north to 58th Street, just around the corner from the theater where the Cavett nightly ninety minutes originates.

CAVETT, described by Life magazine as "sometimes self-conscious, always uptight, but never uncool" has a direct, friendly gaze, a forthright manner, and a ready smile. It would be hard not to like him in person, whatever your opinion of his show. As he has evidenced on the air, he possesses a quick brain and a precision of language second to none, at least on the airwaves.

The move to larger quarters has a symbolic significance: the switch would not have been made if Cavett had not been doing well and assured of renewal by the network for next season. Buddy Hackett had predicted on the "Tonight Show" that Cavett would be off the air early in April. Recently, Cavett smiles, "He wired back he couldn't make it but that he owes me one."

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—The husband who returns from work can tell his wife he was getting culture.

A local tavern has been renamed the "Oregon Museum."

BOUNTY IS BOUNTIFUL
PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Within nine days after a local grocery chain owner announced he would pay a half-cent bounty for all non-returnable beverage cans and bottles, his 60 stores were swamped with 1 million cans and bottles.

THE BLUE-EYED performer Time dubbed, "an urbane Henry Fonda" was born in Kearney, Neb., but calls Gibbon his home town. He grew up in Lincoln where he went to high school with actress Sandy Dennis and where his dad is still a high school teacher.

Dick Cavett, a beguiling Yaleman from Nebraska, in his latest ABC-TV series, has overcome the charge that he is too intellectual for the mass audience. He is winning popular as well as critical acclaim as a witty TV talk show host.

February charged him with being too highbrow for TV's masses. "It only takes one or two people to start something like that," Dick says. "Actually, I aim for broad appeal. I'm not trying to be a great haven for intellectuals. Newsweek said the show is intellectual only by comparison to the rest of the medium."

Cavett doesn't write any more—even his opening monolog material is prepared for him.

Dick has been married for five years, happily and quietly, to a pretty actress, Carrie Nye, whom he first met at Yale. They make their home with a cat and two dogs in a seven-room apartment in the East 80s in Manhattan. They do very little entertaining — "I don't think we've ever given a party"—and on summer weekends escape to a big, old, weather-beaten Stanford White house on Montauk Point, Long Island.

UNLIKE some other TV hosts, Cavett is not heavily involved in tangential activities and businesses; he has no franchises, restaurants, Las Vegas nightclub engagements, toy companies, or hotels. He's not even anxious to take on more TV for a while: "I'm not really interested in doing specials," he says, "I want to see how well I can do with this show. It's getting there now, and if it continues, it could be a pleasure."

FOUR YEARS ago, Dick decided to write comedy for himself, and played a number of "in" nightclubs in New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Two seasons ago, ABC starred him in "Where It's At" and a couple of specials. In 1968, his ABC-TV daytime series won critical acclaim and an Emmy Award, but went off. In the summer of 1969, ABC brought him back for a three-times-weekly series which resulted in him getting the former Joey Bishop late night spot at year's end.

school teacher. Dick went to Yale on a scholarship, switched in senior to Yale Drama School — "I had not yet decided to be a comedian," he recalls. "Or rather, I suppose I wanted to be one but didn't know how."

After graduation came summer stock. He remembers his biggest role at Stratford, Conn., in "Merchant of Venice" which starred Katherine Hepburn, his one line was, "Gentlemen, my master, Antonio, is at his house and desires to speak with you both."

In New York, he worked as a copy boy for Time magazine because the odd hours left time to search for acting jobs. These were few, however, so he tried writing comedy for Jack Paar — and succeeded. Subsequently, he wrote for Groucho Marx, Jack E. Leonard, Merv Griffin, and other guest hosts on the "Tonight Show."

DIVISION OF RATES, SERVICES HELPS BUSINESSES

By Jim Warren

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Division of Rates and Services, Department of Motor Transportation, is helping protect the consumer in the state's growing motor transport industry.

"Freight carriers covered 400 million miles in Kentucky last year," says Harold Bernard, division director. "With this volume the transportation consumer may encounter problems such as improper charges, unnecessary delays, and inadequate services. We try to remedy the problems."

The Division regularly audits carrier's bills of lading and other freight documents. If overcharges are found, the carrier must reimburse the shipper.

Many shippers have received reimbursements never knowing they were the result of division audits.

Although the Division's jurisdiction is limited to Kentucky, it recently filed a protest with the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) when interstate carriers proposed to raise shipping rates to some 40 small Kentucky towns.

The increase was denied on the Division's plea of discrimination.

"Here is a case of small businessmen, dependent on carriers, not knowing where to go with their problems," Bernard says. "We handled it for them."

Although most carriers make every effort to provide adequate service, they occasionally misplace or misroute a shipment. When unnecessary delays occur, the shipper may ask the Division for help. Usually a phone call from the Division will get the shipment moving.

The Division works to secure adequate service for the public from all types of motor carriers. Citizens protested recently when a bus company proposed to drop a run in Central Kentucky. When the Division ordered a hearing on the proposal the bus company gave up its plan.

"We make studies whenever schedule changes are protested by the public," Bernard says. "If there is little or no patronage on a run proposed to be changed, it would be in the public interest to approve the change. Reduction of unnecessary service often enables the carrier to lower rates." While the Division's work is increasing, Bernard feels more could be done if the public were more aware of motor carrier regulations and the Division's services.

"Many small shippers and receivers are not familiar with motor carrier laws and regulations," Bernard says. "When they have problems they often do not know where to go for help."

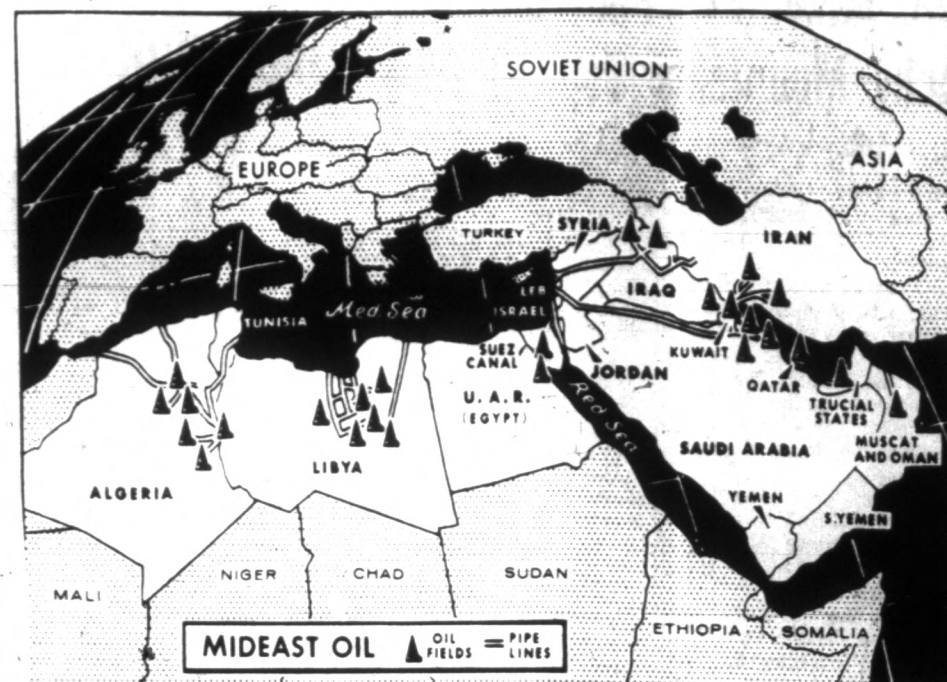

He invites those with shipping problems or questions to contact the Division in Frankfort.

State Employment Exams Scheduled At Murray State

Commissioner Ralph Howe announced today the Personnel Department is actively recruiting new talent for positions in Kentucky State Government. Many positions in state government require an applicant to take a Merit Examination in order to qualify for employment.

Examinations for state employment are scheduled for Murray State University, School of Business Bldg., Murray, on June 6, 1970.

A person seeking a job must have his application on file in the Personnel Office 10 days prior to the examination date. Applications for employment and complete information concerning all examinations, including minimum qualification requirements, may be obtained from local Kentucky

Blue Grass Field Day Set May 27

A Blue Grass Field Day will be held Wednesday, May 27, at the W. J. Walden Seed Farm, Midway. Julian Walden, a leading producer of Kentucky Bluegrass seed and sod, will host the program, which will begin at 1:30 p.m. The program is being sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and the Woodford County Extension Service.

According to Bob Huffman, Woodford County agent, specialists in the fields of turf, seed production, weed control, and grassland management will be on hand for the program.

State Agriculture Commissioner, J. Robert Miller, said "few farms are as well-suited for a field day such as this as the Walden Farm. Those attending the field day on May 27 can see seed production as well as sod production, and the management practices necessary in order for these to be profitable enterprises."

Miller noted that while the field day will be dealing mainly with Kentucky Bluegrass, many of the practices highlighted during the afternoon are practices which can be used in the production of many seed and pasture crops.

MANILA (UPI)—Cabaret girls in Meycauayan, Bulacan, are taking free vocational training offered by the town. Courses include reading and writing, dressmaking and hair culture.

Mayor Celso Legaspi, whose idea it was, says several taxi dancers have told him they will return to their home provinces after graduation and start life anew by opening beauty shops.

MSU Grad Receives Grant Of $1500.00

Thomas I. Miller, a 1966 graduate of Murray State University, is the recipient of a $1500 grant from the Earhart Foundation in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Miller is presently doing graduate work at the University of Arkansas toward the Doctor of Philosophy degree in business. Dr. Nolan E. Williams, head of the department of accounting in the business administration, said the grant is given each academic year to the top two Ph.D. candidates in accounting for that year.

Miller received the B. S. degree in accounting at Murray State in 1966. While at Murray State, Miller was a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity, and a member of Alpha Kappa Psi honorary business fraternity. He is the son of Mrs. Ed Crabtree of 327 Sycamore St. in Elizabethtown.

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)—The University of California and the University of Wisconsin are seeking $5.1 million for a new observatory near Big Sur on the central California coast.

The joint venture would involve a 90-inch telescope on an 80-acre summit, Junipero Serra Peak in Monterey County. Dr. Robert P. Kraft, acting director of UC's Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton near San Jose, said the new observatory would provide a clearer view of the sky.

That means everybody.
That means you. But to STOP, in this world of turmoil and toil, is almost a lost art. We've got to STOP, LOOK, and LISTEN for God. It is that time of day. We must realize we are eternal children of God, on the swift way to destiny.
Just as there must be "rests" in music, to give it phrasing and color, so must man "pause" with God, to refresh his soul.
There are warnings aplenty on the road of life. It would be very wise to STOP for His counsel; LOOK for His direction; LISTEN to His pleading.
His church steeple is a compelling force in every community.
It invites you to invest your life in her program of service.

Fishermen don't mean to start forest fires. But they do. It's usually when the fish start hitting and everyone jumps for his rod. And everyone forgets the campfire. Which is pretty dumb. Leaving a fire to smolder alone is just inviting an inferno. Man, douse it first. Only you can prevent forest fires.

Bro. Walter Pigg, Church of Christ minister, says on his return from his mission work in India, "I don't believe my home and my country ever looked better than upon my arrival back on Wednesday night."

It's such a pity that those who are causing so much trouble cannot appreciate the blessings we enjoy here, and instead of trying to cause insurrections and violence, would work toward making a better America.

We have had nothing but trouble, it seems, since it was decided to take Bible and prayer out of schools.

Last Saturday was an example of the sunshine and shadows of life.

We attended the household sale of the belongings of the Clyde Roberts' who both died as the results of an automobile accident.

We labor all our lives to accumulate possessions, but can leave them all behind in one moment.

Than that same evening we, with half a hundred others from the vicinity, went of the lovely new hill top home in Concord of the Darrell Mitchells to attend a bridal shower for a young couple, T. Patterson and Linda Murray, both teachers who are to be married in June.

And while this couple was enjoying this occasion of preparation and anticipation of a life together, I was sadly conscious that in Blalock Coleman Funeral Home lay Dewey Crass who was another who had finished his course here.

Just two years and one day ago Lee Crass, the only other member of the Crass family, had died. They, too, had been teachers and had contributed much toward making the world around them a better place to live.

But who but the Master can say when our work on earth is done. We have to comfort ourselves with Romans 8:28, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God".

Conviction Becoming Routine Under State Inspection Law

By Leonard Kimball
Special Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Widespread arrests and stiff court penalties are becoming routine as more police and courts throw their weight behind enforcement of Kentucky's motor vehicle inspection program.

Discussing some of the changes he has witnessed since early last year when Public Safety Commissioner William O. Newman first ordered a crackdown by motor vehicle inspection officers on violators of the inspection laws, MVI Director John Parrott said, "at first, getting a conviction in local courts was almost unheard of. But, that isn't true any longer."

According to Parrott, strict enforcement is becoming an expensive reality for many violators as a steadily increasing number of courts report convictions often leading to heavy fines and, sometimes, even jail sentences.

"Only last month, more than 500 motorists were ticketed at state and city police roadblocks in Warren County for not having valid safety stickers on their cars," he said.

Although many later avoided fines by obtaining a valid sticker before their court date, Parrott said that both Warren County Judge Basil Griffin and Bowling Green Police Judge George B. Boston made it clear that times were changing in the future they were quoted as saying, fines will be levied.

And most recently, Louisville and Jefferson County authorities issued a warning that every motorist caught without a valid sticker will be ticketed, Parrott said. But, by far the stiffest penalties being handed down are going to individuals charged with illegal possession of the stickers and inspectors caught issuing stickers without conducting a proper inspection.

"Most, if not all, are finding that the threat of heavy fines and, in some cases, even jail sentences is very real indeed," Parrott said.

Already this year, Parrott's field officers have reported about 23 convictions with sentences ranging from $10-$300 in fines and 90 days to three years imprisonment.

Only three weeks ago, Campbell County Court fined two individuals $113.50 each for possession of stickers belonging to another automobile and levied an identical fine on a third person for affixing a sticker to a car without a proper inspection, he said.

And, currently at Newport, two Covington car dealers are free on $2500 bonds pending trial for illegal possession of stickers.

At Louisville another car salesman, Harvey Frank Fallon, an employee of Bob Ryan Auto Sales, pleaded guilty in Criminal Court to being an accessory after the fact to illegal possession of a safety sticker.

Fallon, who came to the attention of the Department of Public Safety, following a complaint lodged by one of the firm's customers, was sentenced to three months in Jefferson County Jail with execution of the sentence being suspended for three years.

Parrott said that anyone having a complaint about improper inspections should contact him at the Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, Department of Public Safety, State Office Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Every complaint will be thoroughly investigated, he said. And, if the facts warrant, action will be taken.

But who but the Master can say when our work on earth is done. We have to comfort ourselves with Romans 8:28, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God".

And we like to think that each one stays here as long as God has a need for him or he has fulfilled his mission. Like Otis Lovins' little puppy which found Otis' glasses, lost since last October, and brought them to the doorstep, then died by being hit by a car.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Patterson who have been in the grocery business in Concord for almost ten years are retiring in June to their home near by and have leased their business to a young man, Mr. Harper and his father, beginning June.

We hope that by now those in hospitals are better. Mrs. Ramond Fielder recently underwent surgery. Bruce Ferguson of Concord has been a patient several days. Erwin Stubblefield is back home from the hospital.

We become pessimistic over the state of world affairs so encourage this poem from Guide Posts magazine:

"So long as there are homes to which men turn at the close of day,

So long as there are homes where children are, where women stay,

If love and loyalty and faith be found across these sills,

A stricken nation can recover from its grave ills.

So long as there are homes where fires burn and there is bread,

So long as there are homes where lamps are lit and prayers are said,

Although a people falter through the dark and nations grope,

With God Himself back of their little homes We still can hope."

Short Calving Can Save $$ For Dairymen

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Recent studies indicate that 28.2 percent of the cows in Kentucky dairy herds produce a calf and leave the herd before producing another, according to Dr. Durward Olds, Department of Animal Science, UK College of Agriculture. About 5.8 percent of the cows are sold from the herd to be used for dairy purposes in other herds, 4.7 percent are sold as non breeders, 5.5 percent lose their calves by abortion, 1.5 percent of the cows die before producing another calf, and 10.7 percent are sold on account of low production.

Among the cows that do produce at least two calves, says Olds, the average interval between calves is 382 days. Short calving intervals are economically desirable for most dairymen. Present research has shown that most cows may be bred as early as 40 days after calving with little or no likelihood of undesirable consequences. The conception rate may be slightly lower, but this has been found to be the most effective means of shortening calving intervals. It is estimated that 40 percent of all cows could be bred at an average of 20 days sooner after calving and still not breed at less than 40 days. This would result in a shortening of calving intervals by 18 days and would have a value of about $9.00 per cow in terms of milk production.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—"The current period will be eventually recorded as the finest opportunity for investors since the 1930s," Wright Investors Service observes. It adds that the turning point in interest rates "is now at hand because the stock market has risen whenever interest rates have declined."

Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., sees "little reason" for any "basic improvement" in bond prices until "the rise in the general price level is curbed." The company says it believes the "single most important determinant of the course of interest rates has been and still is the inflation function."

"The decline which began in December, 1968, has equalled the 1929 crash," according to Indicator Digest. The analyst stated the "sad fact" in observing its own stock indicator has recorded a 48 per cent drop since December, 1968—"precisely the amount by which the Dow Jones average fell in 1929." However, the firm does not see another economic collapse similar to the one in the 1930s, because "the government is absolutely committed to maintaining prosperity, and certainly to preventing a major depression."

Hong Kong accommodations

HONG KONG (UPI)—At the end of 1969, Hong Kong had a total of 7,600 hotel rooms, an increase of almost 7,000 during the last dozen

Tow chains needed

NEW YORK (UPI)—With national seashores open to passenger cars this spring and summer, vacation-bound drivers should make sure to include tow chains in their equipment, along with jack, jack support and shovel.

The deep sands of ocean beaches — or desert areas — can bog down cars and station wagons just as much as snow. That's why chains are a "must" for those touring these areas. In some cases, such as the Cape Cod National Seashore, cars are inspected by authorities before entering seashore and desert park and camping areas to make sure they have the required tow chains and other equipment.

years. The Hong Kong Tourist Association estimates that about 16,000 hotel rooms will be available by 1975.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If the comedy writers had been up to the task, the CBS-TV hour, "The 5th Dimension Special: An Odyssey in the Cosmic Universe of Peter Max," might have been something really special.

They weren't, however. And the program, previewed by this writer under CBS-TV's welcome new policy of allowing advance criticism, turns out to be highly erratic as a result.

The 5th Dimension sings well enough, of course, to please its fans. And though the members of the group don't show much of a flair for comedy—nor, for that matter, does Mr. Max, who is also on hand—there is enough guest talent to have handled the matter: Flip Wilson, Arte Johnson, Glen Campbell and Joey Heatherton. These guests play the various characters the 5th Dimension meets on its picturesque odyssey, much as in "The Wizard of Oz" Judy Garland came across comic types.

Nothing Excites Joey But there the comparison stops. In tonight's entry, Wilson is pretty funny anyway because he simply has a strong comic presence. Johnson has a few moments. Campbell's comedy attempts need severe directing control. And Miss Heatherton, this generation's Janis Paige, gives the impression nothing excites her anymore.

Max's striking visual effects — somewhere between animation and reality, and appropriately mod—are the best part of the hour.

Writing problems also handicapped the debut Wednesday night of British singer-comedian Des O'Connor as summer host of NBC-TV's "Kraft Music Hall." And the guest lineup of Elke Sommer, Robert Morse, Liberace and Peter Graves simply had to make-do with the sub-par material. The program was taped in London.

One Marvelous Act The hour did, however, have one act that was marvelous and will be featured regularly: The MacGregor Brothers, a comedy four some of middle-aged men in kilts who are neither Scottish nor, for that matter, brothers. They are, in fact—and hilariously—a Chinese, an Australian, a Nigerian and an Englishman. They more or less sing, and more or less mess around, moving with exquisite inelegance. One of them is a tiny fellow who kept staring angrily at O'Connor during a song. They are one of the funniest acts I have ever seen.

Ah, well. And then we have ABC-TV's half-hour Wednesday night comedy special with the Canadian team of Wayne and Shuster, who, in kilts, spoofed love through the ages. I confess I have never understood what is funny about Wayne and Shuster. And their latest concoction, hokey and tired, simply furthers the mystery.

ABC-TV also had a Wednesday night hour called "Mission Possible—They Care for a Nation, about pollution. Well-mounted and well-intentioned, of course, but just more of the same on the subject.

Golf on the high seas

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—The Caribbean cruise ship M/S Boheme is a swinging ship—with a string attached. Passengers who want to keep their swing in shape drive a golf ball off the fantail when the ship is between ports. The ball is attached to a string and is hauled back after every shot, whether it's a slice, hook or straight line drive into the wake.

WORD FROM THE WAR ZONE—Linda Sue Fricke no doubt is engulfed by a fullness of heart as she looks at special greetings from her husband, Army Spec. 4 Steve Fricke, near Elida, Ohio. Clear from South Vietnam he had the billboard erected for her and the community.

Worth staying for

ATHENS (UPI)—Anyone who can manage to remain in Athens through September and October quite literally has a considerable treat in store.

It's the Athens wine festival, organized in a park near the medieval Church of Daphni. Every night from seven to midnight, for a $1 admission, one can drink freely of among more than 100 Greek wines. Girls in national costume serve the wine from barrels lined up under wooden sheds, and there are stands with food for every pocketbook.

DEDICATED — Pat Kreke, editor of the 1969-70 Daviess County High School yearbook, is shown presenting Joe Overby, DCHS art instructor, the first edition of the "Echoes." The yearbook was dedicated to Overby, who is co-sponsor of the Pantherettes and SOTS and has assisted with decorations for three proms at the school. Robert Kirk is featured in the book as the DCHS honor graduate.

Daviess County Yearbook Dedicated To Joe Overby

The 1969-70 Daviess County High yearbook, "Echoes," has been dedicated to Joe Overby, DCHS art instructor.

The yearbooks, which were distributed Wednesday, also feature Robert Kirk as the 1970 honor graduate, the highest award bestowed on a DCHS graduating senior.

At an assembly Wednesday, Pat Kreke, editor of the 49th edition of the "Echoes," presented to Overby and Kirk their engraved brown and gold yearbooks. Following the assembly, students were allowed two hours in which to autograph the books.

Overby, who recently married the former Linda Childs, a 1968 graduate and former yearbook editor at DCHS, is sponsor of the Student Organization for Team Spirit (SOTS) and co-sponsor of the DCHS Pantherettes, the girls' drill corps.

A Murray State University graduate, who has taught in Daviess County five years, Overby has undertaken the direction of three Junior-Senior Proms at DCHS.

Kirk, who was selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership and citizenship, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Kirk of Habit.

The 1970 DCHS valedictorian and a National Merit Scholarship finalist, Kirk was recently selected to receive the Hewitt Young Merit Award. He was also named as an Outstanding Student of America and STAR student.

Kirk is a member of the United Fund Youth Board of Directors, Beta Club, Science Club, All-State band and All-State orchestra and was selected "Most Likely to Succeed" by his classmates.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

STOCKHOLM — Premier Olaf Palme of Sweden, proposing a solution to end the war in Southeast Asia:

"The war can only be brought to an end by a political settlement, and I think part of the political settlement will be the acceptance of a coalition government in Saigon."

DETROIT — Betty Furness, former presidential assistant for consumer affairs, discussing the campaign to get General Motors to set up a committee of corporate responsibility:

"Campaign GM has demonstrated that there is a university industrial complex which is alive and well and which meets at board meetings once a month."

JACKSON, Miss. — Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi is readying the National Guard for a "swarm" of people expected today at the funeral for one of two persons killed at Jackson State College.

"There is going to be peace and tranquility in Mississippi. We are going to be ruled by law and order."

NEW YORK — Martin Danoff, the father of sextuplets who died shortly after the birth Thursday night:

"For a few minutes we had five girls and a boy... as long as my wife is well, and she can get some rest, I will be happy."

Lassie Is Enshrined To Hall Of Fame

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Stop the vigilante movement to investigate the Patsy Awards! Lassie, unmentioned this year for best animal actor on television, has not been wronged after all. The faithful, talented collie has been retired from competition.

The American Humane Association, which sponsors the Patsy Awards, has enshrined Lassie to the Patsy Hall of Fame, the first and only such animal performer thus honored.

Let us pause for a moment of silent appreciation for this noble beast who has best Patsy Awards in the past to horses, dolphins and, most recently and ignominiously, to a pig named Arnold. Obviously, Lassie's performances overshadowed the meager talents of Mr. Ed, Flipper and Arnold.

But the Patsys would have been wrecked by presenting Lassie the award every year.

It is analogous to having Richard Burton compete for the Oscar annually, say, with the Three Stooges.

A Mr. Harold Melniker, director of the Hollywood Office of the American Humane Association, was shook up by a United Press International call to arms on behalf of Lassie's best interests.

"People are so accustomed to Lassie's great appeal they either take her acting for granted and fail to vote for her, or vote for her every year," Melniker said.

Retired From Competition "We had to do something. So we retired her from competition by putting her in the Hall of Fame."

Is Mr. Melniker sure all this is kosher?

"Yes," indeed," Melniker assured. "After 15 years in competition, it was time Lassie got a break. Since the TV Patsys began in 1958 she has won three first places and five seconds."

"There was no diminishing of her great work and importance. It was just that the public was attracted to new animal actors."

There appears to be little chance of behind-the-scenes chicanery.

The Grand Illusion.

Something strange happens to a lot of people when they get behind the wheel of a car. They forget they're only human.

They forget that mistakes on the road can be caused by them... just as well as by the other guy.

There's a little Napoleon in all of us. Some have a little more — some a little less. The important thing is that we all recognize this attitude leads to accidents. Because Napoleon sees things only one way — his. When something goes wrong out on the highway, he presumes it's the other guy's idiotic mistake. Not his.

Fairness and understanding in traffic situations can only help make driving conditions safer for all of us. Your new car dealer would like to see the Napoleons on our roads start caring about other drivers.

Napoleon may have made a pretty big name for himself. But please remember, after all was said and done, what he met: Waterloo.

Belfast, Maine, Posts Bounty For Convicted Dope Pushers

By ROBERT RUSSELL

BELFAST, Maine (UPI)—This scenic community perched halfway up the Maine coast has a common urban problem—drugs—but a decidedly uncommon approach to combatting it: A bounty for pushers.

Spurred by a deputy sheriff and a businessman, the town of 6,100 has raised nearly $1,000 in the past few weeks to reward police informers who would buy drugs under official scrutiny and testify in court against the seller.

They would get the bounty if the suspect was convicted of selling dope to a minor. There have been no takers so far, but confidence is high that the very existence of the bounty may deter big-city pushers from invading the area.

Sheriff Launches Drive
The drive was launched by Deputy Sheriff Harold Higgins in a much-publicized letter to the editor of the local weekly, the Belfast Republican Journal, in which he offered a $25 bounty and asked his fellow citizens to enrich the pot.

"If this drug problem were a plague sweeping across the land, people would be quick to immunize their children," he wrote.

"Well, this can be just as deadly, only this is a creeping sickness that silently envelops a community before the people realize it is happening.

The response was immediate and enthusiastic. Former Police Chief Donald Weber, now an oil distributor, began passing the hat in the business community, and unsolicited pledges poured in from the townspeople. Police began receiving tips on drug activities around town.

But no one volunteered to act as decoy, a problem anticipated by Higgins in his published appeal.

"Apparently the biggest fear of the young people is to be called a squealer or rat-fink," he wrote.

Some officials are skeptical of the project. "The whole thing conjures up vigilantes to me," commented a member of the state attorney general's office, who declined to be identified because he said he did not know enough about the venture to fully evaluate it.

Waldo County Attorney Stanley F. Brown said he hadn't been consulted either, but that he would want to advise police on the potential legal difficulties involved before they sent a prospective buyer in search of drug pushers.

Pleased by Response
Despite the controversy, Higgins is pleased with the community response and shrugs off complaints of "vigilante" tactics.

"We're all in this together, the police and the community," said Higgins, a real estate salesman when not on police duty. "It's just that the citizens are putting up the money. The police would handle it if it ever came to making an arrest."

The project is already reaping dividends, he reported, as information pours in on the activities of drug pushers in the region.

"I know who they are, how they travel," Higgins said. "But without the informer, we haven't got a case against anybody."

men to duty and police officials ordered all off-duty officers to report to headquarters and all off-duty patrolmen also were summoned to the campus.

Fawcett said the troops, expected to ring the campus area, would admit anyone with legitimate business. "But," he said, "anyone else had better stay away."

Columbus Safety Director James Hughes Jr. and Fawcett agreed outside agitators were responsible for the violence.

TALL PEOPLE ARE CLAIMING DISCRIMINATION

By JOSEPH FLEMING

BERLIN (UPI)—The tall people of Europe claim they are being discriminated against, and they are organizing to do something about it. They insist it's a small man's world and a big man only has an advantage on the basketball court.

The third European Congress of Tall People has ended with a plea for tax reductions to help meet the cost of being big. There are 520 men and women in West Berlin for the three-day meeting, from West Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Austria and Switzerland.

Gets Double Room
One man 7-feet, 7-inches tall swore he always gets a double room in a hotel and then joins the twin beds so he can sleep comfortably.

"But that won't work for bathtubs," said Heinrich Karner, head of the West Berlin "Tall People's Club."

"And what does a man do when his head hits the shower nozzle," asked Karner, who at 6-foot-3-inches describes himself as relatively short.

"Consider the cost of getting suits made. Small persons can buy off the rack. Or shoes. How about the cost of beds and bathtubs at home?"

"And if you can get clothes to fit you there is no variety."

Nothing fits
Werner Schneider, the 6-foot-4-inch chairman of the all-German group said, "All we can get to fit us are shoelaces, ties and handkerchiefs."

Schneider feels that if tall men and women band together in clubs they can deal with manufacturers and shops in an effort to get cheaper prices and articles at the proper size.

Pleas for tax reductions fell on deaf ears at a city reception for the congress delegates given by West Berlin Deputy Mayor Kurt Neubauer.

"How about tax reductions for small men?" he was heard to mutter.

Neubauer is 5-feet-six.

SPARKS TO BE COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER, SAYRE

Dr. Harry M. Sparks, president of Murray State University, will be the commencement speaker at the Graduation Exercises for the 1970 graduating class of the 115-year-old Sayre School in Lexington, Kentucky.

Dr. Sparks' Commencement address will culminate a week of graduation activities for Sayre's 1970 graduating class beginning with the Baccalaureate Service, Sunday, June 7 at Mt. Horeb Presbyterian Church, Donna D. Hollingsworth, Minister, followed by the Headmaster's Invitational Tea at the home of Headmaster and Mrs. Hollingsworth.

The Junior-Senior Formal Banquet and Graduation Ball was held Monday, June 8 at the Red Mile Club. Concluding the week will be the annual Commencement Exercises, Tuesday, June 9 at 8:00 p.m. in Sayre's Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney Auditorium in Lexington.

after, "The Tiger," also produced a film version, "The Tiger Makes Out." Eli claimed it didn't make money because "It was ahead of its time." And he's probably correct. Today it could do the kind of business like Woody Allen's "Take The Money And Run."

Like Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman, they've also appeared together in several movies, four, as compared to the Newmans' record of seven. They've not yet played husband and wife. And in "Witness," she plays George Kennedy's wife, and she gets billing above Eli—a fact she won't let her husband forget.

NEXT on their agenda is a plan to make a film based on a screenplay Eli will write, and they will shoot in Israel before going over, they plan to make another outing together on the stage, although both admit Broadway, like Hollywood, doesn't look too promising in the upcoming season.

When either Anne or Eli goes out of town for a play or film, the entire family goes, including the dog. And if working in a play in New York, all six, including the dog, sit down to an early dinner before cutting in.

"We're rather old-fashioned," said Eli, "we believe in family togetherness, and not making a fuss over our children."

"We'd be happy," added Anne, "if our acting in the future could be together. And although it's old-fashioned I suppose we'll continue to live together."

Eli adds, "I don't know what I should do with Anne."

"MIND!" said Anne. "You should adore it."

"So," he shrugged, "I adore her."

Attorney Believes Purchase Area EOC Will Be Refunded

MURRAY, Ky., May 21 — "I believe we will be refunded," Kenneth Alexander, Paducah attorney, said to members of the Purchase Area Economic Opportunity Council at the Murray City Hall tonight.

Alexander, represented the PAEOC at the regional OEO office in Atlanta where officials of the local poverty agency were to show cause why the organization should not be defunded for failing to comply with OEO directives.

The Paducah lawyer said that the threat of defunding grew out of concern over internal organization and fiscal matters. He said the group conceded that some things were not exactly in compliance with the law, but these were minor and had no bearing on the issue.

He said, however, that there were certain conditions that the PAEOC would have to meet before being refunded. Pointing out that the delegation to Atlanta offered the conditions, Alexander indicated that the by-laws would have to be in compliance with OEO laws before July 1.

He outlined a plan whereby funds would be allocated on a performance basis.

Normally, refunding is on a 12-month basis. Alexander suggested that funding cover a three-month period. If the board and membership are not in compliance with OEO laws at that time, there will be no further refunding, he said.

"These two conditions completely satisfy OEO with the board and internal organization," Alexander stated.

He said an audit would resolve financial difficulties.

Curlee Brown, senior executive director of the PAEOC, reported that the Richardson and Trevathan firm of Benton had agreed to do the auditing. He said a letter had already been sent to Atlanta for approval.

"It's up to them now, but I don't think they have any recourse but to accept the auditor," he added.

Brown called the discrepancies over the PAEOC's financial condition a "misunderstanding."

"There has never been a bill paid without a check to back it up," he said.

"If we had anything to hide, we would not have asked them to look at our books — and we asked Atlanta three months ago for a figure for an audit," Brown continued.

In regard to the economic program, Brown said, "The local governments and citizens must come together to form something that will live when OEO is dead," he concluded.

The first sign of trouble came in April when State OEO director Lynn Frazier told board members in Benton that the agency was threatened with defunding.

Later, regional director Roy E. Batchelor confirmed the charge saying, "Continued difficulties in PAEOC have made it necessary for the regional office to initiate action to deny refunding."

The poverty agency has been operating on a provisional grant of $62,540 since last May. The hearing in Atlanta was called to determine if the program would be continued following expiration of that grant on June 30, 1970.

This is the second time that the PAEOC has been threatened with defunding. In March, 1969, funds were cut off for failure to comply with OEO directives—the same charges filed again recently. Through appeals, the agency was refunded on a provisional basis for 12 months.

Today's Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks advanced in moderately active trading today.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a gain of 0.46 per cent on 397 issues crossing the tape. Advances outnumbered declines, 190 to 111.

Motors and electronics generally edged higher, while steels were narrowly mixed. Oils also traded in both directions.

In the oil group, Jersey Standard edged up 1/8 to 52 1/2, with Texaco ahead 1/2 to 24 1/2, and Ashland down 1/8 to 19 1/2. Getty lost 3/4 to 39. Occidental was steady at 16. Standard of Ohio gained 1/4 to 52 1/4.

Chemicals showed a steady tone, with Allied Chemical and Du Pont unchanged at 17 1/2 and 105 1/2, respectively. Eastman Kodak was up 1/4 to 61 1/2.

Among the electronics, Control Data rose 1/4 to 87 1/4, with Litton up 1/2 to 18 1/4, RCA to 21, and IBM 1 to 24 1/2. Honeywell climbed 5/8 to 82 1/2, while General Electric gained 1/4 to 64 1/2. Westinghouse was unchanged at 57 1/2. Telex Corp. rose 1/2 to 13 1/2, with Fairchild Camera up 1/2 to 32 1/2, and National Cash Register 1/2 to 51 1/2. University Computing was up 2 to 23.

In the automotive group, General Motors tacked on 1/8 to 62 1/2, with Ford and Chrysler also up 1/8 each to 39 1/2 and 21 1/2, respectively.

U.S. Steel rose 1/2 to 33 1/4, but Bethlehem fell 1/8 to 24 1/4. American Telephone eased 1/8 to 44 1/2.

Anne Jackson, Eli Wallach Another Liz-and-Dick?

HOLLYWOOD While many of today's show biz couples are living together and having children before or without benefit of marriage, yet another couple remains old-fashioned and they are quite happy about it. They are Anne Jackson and Eli Wallach.

Although married 20 years, with three children and numerous acting honors, they still don't see eye to eye. But it doesn't affect their attitude of "the family that plays together, stays together."

They are, in many ways, like and equally different from other acting couples, such as the prime example, Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton or the veteran couple, Fredric March and Florence Eldridge, or the happy medium, Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman and the youngest he-and-she acting team, Ryan O'Neal and Leigh Taylor-Young.

Ironically, they often play such meanies on film and stage. It's hard to believe they are the same, easy-going, laughing people off-stage and off-screen. That, too, proves what fine actors they are.

ANNE and Eli commute between New York and Hollywood regularly. For example, I talked with him in Hollywood for "McKenna's Gold," then with both of them during their joint "False Witness," later with her in New York in "Lovers and Other Strangers."

Both are stage-trained, and friends with actors on both coasts. Thus it wasn't surprising to see them both back in L. A. for the opening night of friend Jack Lemmon on the stage of the City's Music Center in a revival of "Idiot's Delight." Their attitude is always the same: exuberant about what they're doing and what they're going to do.

Unlike so many new people in the business, they like it — and the people in it. They may seem corny to some of today's "in" people, but they don't care. Their performances are never anything but real. Nevertheless, they have a great feeling for the great "unreal" that was Hollywood.

Anne admits doing the making of "False Witness," for example, on the giant MGM lot. "I kidnaped the studio driver on the way to be made beautiful by Bill Tuttle (the head of the makeup department) and had the driver take me on a tour of the back lots," she said.

"I BROKE DOWN and wept when he showed me where 'Scarlett O'Hara,' 'Andy Hardy' and 'Camille' lived. God, if those new owners turn MGM's back lots into a shopping center, I shall never forgive them!" Anne was very emphatic.

Co-starring with Gig Young in "Lovers" was also exciting for Anne because the Academy Award winner appeared in his first Broadway play with her.

"Oh Men, Oh Women" — Anne told me she was responsible for whatever success he had and it was considerable.

The Wallachs appeared on Broadway several times and after, "The Tiger," also produced a film version, "The Tiger Makes Out." Eli claimed it didn't make money because "It was ahead of its time." And he's probably correct. Today it could do the kind of business like Woody Allen's "Take The Money And Run."

Like Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman, they've also appeared together in several movies, four, as compared to the Newmans' record of seven. They've not yet played husband and wife. And in "Witness," she plays George Kennedy's wife, and she gets billing above Eli—a fact she won't let her husband forget.

NEXT on their agenda is a plan to make a film based on a screenplay Eli will write, and they will shoot in Israel before going over, they plan to make another outing together on the stage, although both admit Broadway, like Hollywood, doesn't look too promising in the upcoming season.

When either Anne or Eli goes out of town for a play or film, the entire family goes, including the dog. And if working in a play in New York, all six, including the dog, sit down to an early dinner before cutting in.

"We're rather old-fashioned," said Eli, "we believe in family togetherness, and not making a fuss over our children."

"We'd be happy," added Anne, "if our acting in the future could be together. And although it's old-fashioned I suppose we'll continue to live together."

Eli adds, "I don't know what I should do with Anne."

"MIND!" said Anne. "You should adore it."

"So," he shrugged, "I adore her."
